Title	Date of publication	Follow up(max 100 words)
Handbook of Institute	09/07/2015	Every stakeholder of higher education has a role to play for quality enhancement and sustenance. The stakeholders such as the Government, management, teachers, students and the external quality assurance agencies-have an important role in ensuring quality of higher education. The National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC) strives to play a catalytic role in synergising the stakeholders efforts. Of all the stakeholders mentioned above, the students have a unique role to play in ensuring quality of higher education institutions (HEIs). Firstly, the students should realize that they have the right for quality education and it is the responsibility of the HEIs to provide quality educational experience to learners. Secondly, the students should equally be aware of their responsibilities which in turn will help the institutions to provide quality education. This means that the students should demand quality education and demonstrate their commitment to quality education by accepting their responsibilities. Otherwise the HEIs will have very little motivation for quality enhancement. Shri. Bapusaheb D.D. The oxygen park established provides example of natural "lungs" to the cities. The trees and plants once at a certain height require little to no care unless faced with prolonged drought or disease period. The oxygen parks can become a role model for other institutions and organizations so large scale parks canbe large-scale parks can be established in cities for the clean air The increased city habit of taking morning walks, jogs and runs can be seen in a completely new light. Oxygen parks can become the centers of health related habit based activities. Simply because the offer cleaner and more oxygenated air. The use of community engagement programmes and adopting villages by educational institutes can speed up the swachhata campaigns If cities and their citizens can ensure that such oxygen parks can be established, even on a small scale, the whole concept of maximizing the value of our green spaces can become a reality. Parks and gardens allotted by the city can accommodate the diversity of flora for its purposes. While such oxygen parks can relieve oxygen levels, temperature and pollution very well. Oxygen parks and such concepts are like hybrid technologies for the green landscape and the concept of oxygen park proved useful.
